On June 2, a magnificent and elegant lady turns 64. She is the Italian Republic, reborn strong in democracy and liberty from the ashes of war and dictatorship. In her honor, as an abiding tribute of love amid the celebrations planned for Boston, we cordially invite you to participate in a festive evening of operatic trivia that will put your knowledge of Italian language repertory to the test. Classical music radio host Ron Della Chiesa, our Master of Ceremonies, will quiz you on the personal and professional triumphs, fiascos and secrets of opera's greatest composers, librettists, conductors and singers. It's up to you to guess the right answer that will lead to performances of the music by BOC's talented lyric artists!
